Momentum Healthware Strengthens Executive Team

Winnipeg, Manitoba, July 2, 2007 – Momentum Healthware is pleased to announce a number of executive additions and promotions.

Glenn Tinkler has joined Momentum Healthware as the Senior Vice-President of North American Sales and Marketing. Tinkler brings a wealth of executive experience to the Company, most notably, 31 years at the IBM Corporation where he served as the General Manager of IBM Manitoba. During the past seven years, Tinkler has served in various executive roles in U.S., European, and Canadian software companies. “Momentum deploys electronic health record solutions to large enterprises. This requires pervasive technology and scalable professionals. Our clients and employees will be well served with Glenn’s pedigree”, says Dan Malmstrom, Chief Executive Officer of Momentum Healthware.

Barrie Davidson has been promoted to Chief Financial Officer. Davidson has 15 years of finance experience in various positions, including eight years in the financial services sector. Six of those years were spent at Assante Canada, a leading provider of integrated wealth management solutions.

Bruce Penner has been named Senior Vice-President of Solutions. Penner has been with Momentum for four years and is responsible for the Company’s next generation products. He has been instrumental in designing the innovative healthcare solution for the Province of Manitoba. Prior to joining Momentum, Penner was a founding shareholder and Chief Operating Officer of RISE Health Systems, a Canadian healthcare IT company specializing in the development of practice management software for medical clinics and primary care facilities.

Matthew Mullins has been promoted to Chief Operating Officer for Momentum. Previously Mullins managed the Global Services group within the Company.

Prior to Momentum, Mullins served as Senior Vice President and Chief Knowledge Officer at Gibson Musical Instruments, a global manufacturer of musical instruments, headquartered in Nashville, TN.

“I have a great deal of the confidence in the Momentum Team, and the leadership they will bring to the entire organization” said Dan Malmstrom, CEO of Momentum Healthware. “They represent a unique blend of business acumen as Momentum continues its transformation as a world-class software company”.
